Dear Mr Kirk

I acknowledge receipt of your letter dated 1 June 2018.

The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court is limited, particularly in criminal cases. Permission to appeal to the Supreme Court in a criminal case may only be granted if it is certified by the court below that a point of law of general public importance is involved and it appears to that court or to the Supreme Court that the point is one that ought to be considered by the Supreme Court.

I am sorry but this office will be unable to assist you unless a certificate has been granted.

Yours sincerely

Louise di Mambro
Registrar of the Supreme Court of the United Kingdom
